

Job posting

Laser Manufacturing Engineer
Bachelor or Master in Photonics or Engineering

Are you a looking for a challenging position in the laser industry?

Onefive is a young and innovative company specialized in high-end ultrafast laser systems as well as tunable cw lasers. We serve customers in industry and research spread all over the world. We offer an interesting and challenging working environment in a small international high-tech company, where your personal effort makes a difference. Onefive is located downtown Zurich, Switzerland.

Job function

- autonomous production of femtosecond laser systems including
 - preproduction tasks and subassembly manufacturing
 - complete assembly of complex laser systems to meet customers requirements
 - complete performance testing and qualification
 - documentation of production
 - in-house servicing
- close collaboration with R&D team
- feedback to construction team for improvements of design and procedures

Profile of qualification

- bachelor or master in photonics, engineering or similar education
- experienced with high-volume laser production, ideally femtosecond lasers
- working experience in clean room environment
- hands-on in laser laboratory
- familiar with a wide range of test and measurement techniques
- fluent in English (oral and in writing)

Are you an ardent manufacturing laser engineer looking for an interesting position in a high tech company? Are you patient and very precise with your hand work and documentation? Do you like to organize challenging processes?

Please contact:

Rosmarie Ehrsam
Onefive GmbH
In Böden 139
CH-8046 Zurich

careers@onefive.com
www.onefive.com
+41 43 538 36 57